KENNEDY KEEPS MISTRESS

MISS PAMELA TURNURE NAMED IN PROFOMO TYPE SCANDAL

MR PRESIDENT : WHY ARE YOU HIDING YOUR FACE?

The press of America has since 1958 refused to publish the following fully documented story. This information has been furnished by Florence Mary Kater (Mrs. Leonard Kater) of Washington, D.C.

In 1958 JOHN F. Kennedy was a United States Senator representing the State of Mass. He was at that time being boomed nationwide for President of the U.S.A. Sen. Kennedy had as his Secretary Miss Pamela Turnure, 20 years younger than Kennedy.) Kennedy was at this time married to his present wife, Jackie. On this page is a picture of Kennedy leaving a house at 1523 34th street North West, Washington, D.C. at one o'clock in the morning on July 11, 1958. Kennedy had subleased this apartment for Miss Turnure at a place for discreet rendezvous. After establishing Miss Turnure in these quarters, John F. Kennedy began keeping very late hours.

The picture on this page was taken by Mr. Leonard Kater, as Kennedy left at one o'clock the morning of July 11, 1958. IF HE WERE NOT GUILTY OF MISCONDUCT, WHY DID HE ATTEMPT TO HIDE HIS FACE.

Mrs. Kater is a devotedly religious lady. She felt (as millions of other decent Christian ladies and gentlemen would.) That the moral conduct of a man seeking the very highest office in the land should be above all reproach. Kennedy has led the American public to believe that he is the ideal family man.

Therefore any news to the contrary should be made known to the general public. Mrs. Kater has made this information available to all major newspapers, magazines, journalists and organizations. Mrs. Kater informs us that we are the first with courage enough to touch this story.

But that is not where the story ends, PRESIDENT JOHN F. KENNEDY CONTINUES TO BE THE DEBAUCHER OF A GIRL YOUNG ENOUGH TO BE HIS DAUGHTER. And his cynical knowledge that the press will cover up for him is such that he has brought her into the White House itself as his

HOW MRS. KATER OBTAINED PICTURE

The tape recording of the Kennedy - Turnure affair took place on July 1, 1958. Mrs. Kater wanted to take a picture of Kennedy leaving the apartment when he left at 2:30 A.M. - only to find they had no film in the camera. Mrs. Kater then learned that Kennedy had arranged for Miss Turnure to move into another apartment at a friends house over on the other side of Wisconsin Ave. Which just so happens to be a few blocks from Kennedy's home.

(Editors note, following is Mrs. Katers statement.) "Miss Turnure moved out of my building on July 6, 1958 to her new address at 1523 34th St. N.W., Georgetown, Washington, D.C. At approximately 10 o'clock, P.M. on Thursday, July 10, 1958, Senator John F. Kennedy, his fuzzy white bobby socks flashing above his loafers, visited Miss Pamela Turnure at her new residence, 1523 34th St. N.W., Washington, D.C. This time he was on foot, since he lived just three blocks away. He let himself but the front door at 1 o'clock A.M., July 11, 1958 at which time my husband called out "Senator!" and snapped his picture as he tried to outrace the camera's focus and hide his face."

Thus we are able to publish the super-sensational photograph of John F. Kennedy sprinting away from the camera's eye, trying to hide his face. The scenery in this picture - light pole, tree, house fence are still there for the public to view at 1523 34th St. N.W., just three blocks where Kennedy lived with his wife.

All America is asking, "Mr. President, why are you hiding your face?"

wife's press secretary.

Miss Pamela Turnure was given this prestige position immediately after the inaugural. She declared she knew no journalism or press relations; that everyone would have to be "very patient with her."

Mrs. Kater tells her own story. The following is quoted from a copy of a letter from Mrs. Kater to N.B.C. on October 28, 1961. "All three people involved in the White House triangle have similar backgrounds, know and understand each other very, very well and have come to terms in a working arrangement that is mutually satisfactory."

Referring to the new "French look" at the White House perhaps it should be called "menage a trios." Thats French for the husband, wife, and mistress, living happily together under the same roof. But the average American with no clan-night spot-or social registrar arbiters to guide him, would call the married life of President and Mrs. Kennedy dumb-bell and would demand that John F. Kennedy be thrown out of office for moral turpitude. The press and dozens of periodicals continue to outdo each other in "describing" the wise, tender and beautiful marriage of the First Family. It is none of these things; it is however Big Business in the publishing field; and the poor mistlead readers continue to buy bigger and bigger lies.

Even so, many of them sense that "there's something wrong somewhere." It was most unusual to find the Scripps-Howard papers saying this past Oct. 19, that Mrs. Kennedy spent three days at the White House (for official receptionists) the longest period since last spring. Well it was that way for years before the presidential race but the press and John Kennedy's campaign literature kept that a secret."

To get back to Robert Kennedy. In 1958 he knew of this affair and did nothing to stop it. Rather, for a long time, he tried to stop me. But my husband still has his job. I still have my health, I still have my freedom, and Robert Kennedy still gets carbon copies -- and sometimes originals -- of anything I write concerning the domestic setup of the White House. I speak from personal knowledge and have total proof of John Kennedy's moral unfitness to be the President of the United States. In 1960 during the presidential campaign Robert Kennedy did not be a shambles and there would be no more lying about who had struck the self-incriminating, pose in the picture. Then would come that awful question I had asked: "Why are you hiding your face in the picture?"

But the press never asked Senator Kennedy these questions. If it had, he would not be the President of the United States.

Toward the end of the presidential campaign the press once more tried to harm Richard Nixon, on a personal level as usual; this time it had to do with family financial matters. Naturally this was picked up by Senator Kennedy over and over in his speeches as the "special interests" of his opponents. Now that the campaign is over no more is printed about this. However just a few weeks ago the press managed to smudge Richard Nixon's name again. They can't break the habit--or won't break it.

Right after that I sent a sensible, individually typed letter to about fifty prominent people, mostly journalists, asking only their opinion of Senator Kennedy's checking into my husband's sensitive job and planning to deprive him of it to settle a personal score. In the letter I explained that my husband is a high school graduate, over forty; as a salesman sells paper forms to several government agencies, and has been with his company for over twelve years. I received not one reply. I called the well-known May Craig on the phone on a Saturday afternoon and asked her if she received my letter and what she thought; she was cross with me and curily told me she would have to hang up as she was expecting guests.

Next month, when they give out the Oscars, old rocking-chain John Kennedy unfortunately the President of the United States, should get the best actor prize. He maintains his girlfriend/mistress Pamela Turnure, in the White House itself yet all the while uses a great deal of his time and energy play acting like a respectable family man. My husband tells me that only a really depraved and naturally nasty man "takes his paramour home" and has her associate with his family. The American people would react in anger and disgust if they knew about President Kennedy's Faroukish immorality in the White House but the truth is kept from them by a corrupt press.

The best actress award should go to Mrs. John F. Kennedy for knowing about her press secretary's affair with her husband but pretending, unlike any other American woman I have ever known, that it is normal and all right.

The best supporting actress Oscar should go to Pamela Turnure, press secretary to Mrs. John Kennedy. However, of late, Miss Turnure has been rather insupportable. She has been saying that no one should address President Kennedy at social functions but wait until he speaks to them; then they should discreetly melt away into the background. I cannot help but think Miss Turnure has come to see John Kennedy as a sort of latter-day Louis XV and herself a Pompadour. In any event these days Miss Turnure is very busy playing a double role. All over the world a boudoir influence on the throne is feared and hated for the danger and harm implicit in it.

The top prize for scriptwriting should go to the American press. Every day they get out tons of lies whitewashing the above mentioned immoral persons. The press pelts the citizens senseless with the large and the medium and the small about each and every Kennedy who even or ever did exist but never does it inform them that their President maintains his mistress in the White House/ To my knowledge the press knows all about it and has their hard-boiled, cynical and opportunistic natures to fool the

PROOF OF PICTURE LOCATION

This is a picture of Senator John F. Kennedy of Mass. (now the President of the United States) leaving his girl friend's house at 1523-34th St., N.W., Georgetown, Washington, D. C. at 1 o'clock on the morning of July 11, 1958. She is now Mrs. John F. Kennedy's press secretary in the White House. Her name is Pamela Turnure.

This is a daytime scene at 1523-34th Street, N.W., Georgetown, Washington, D.C. Notice the same background as it appears in the picture above; the only change -- the shutter's have since been painted a darker color. public; especially, I think, they like to make jackasses of American women.

After Mr. McInerney's last visit to our home I called Mr. Joseph P. Kennedy about the Senator's affair with Miss Turnure and told him what I thought about it. He told me not to "get in a stew about it"--and that he would like to see me after a trip my husband had won to California. He asked me when we would be back in Washington, D.C. I told him and he said that it coincided perfectly with a trip he planned to make to Washington. He said that he would be glad to see me anywhere I suggested. I suggested my home. He asked me if I would like to have special studio passes when we would be in Hollywood and I said I would not. He said that he heard I was "quite a character" and he looked forward to seeing me soon."

"I concealed it on the phone but I took a strong dislike to Mr. Joseph P. Kennedy while I was talking to him--his attitude was that I was a silly prude. "So, within ten minutes of our conversation, I called Cardinal Cushing in Boston for an appointment. I got it and flew up to Boston with my evidence of Senator

John Kennedy's moral unfitness to be the President of the United States. Reluctantly, I told Cardinal Cushing that if Senator Kennedy did not withdraw from the Presidential race that I would do everything in my power to publicize his lechery. Cardinal Cushing said he would do whatever he could.

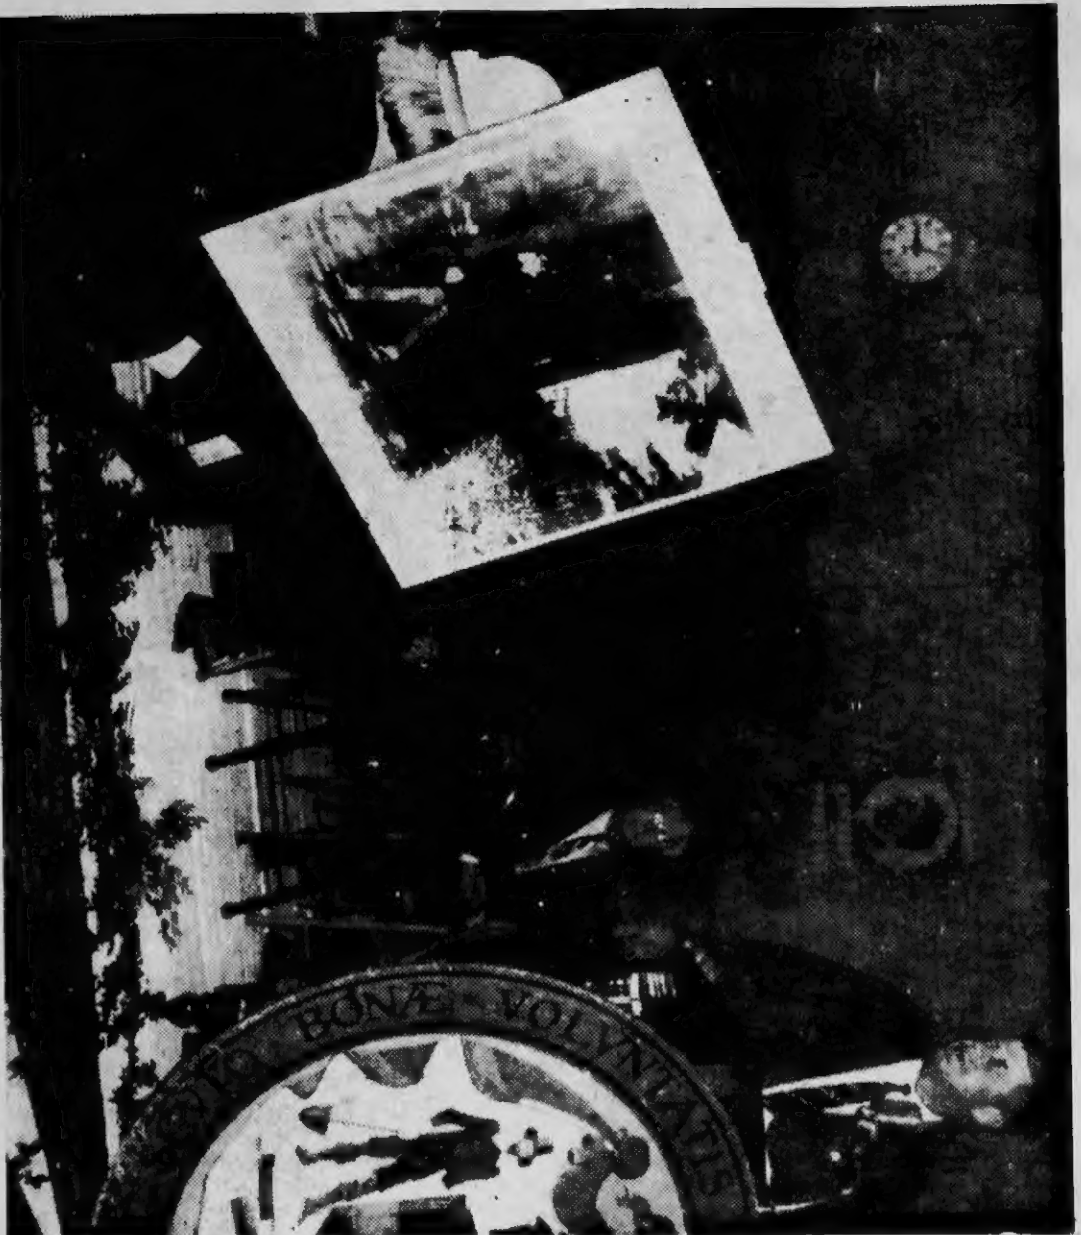

"Needless to say, Mr. Joseph P. Kennedy did not visit me at my home.

"I have a tape recording of my telephone conversation with Mr. Joseph P. Kennedy, above described.

"While I was walking on the White House pavement with my sign Mr. McInerney appeared and said I was going to "Jose", that I just didn't have a chance to win. He also said that if he ever said anything to me that hurt my feelings or was untrue that he was sorry and wanted me to accept his apology.

P.S. The part McInerney played was a story in itself. To prove that I was a Catholic (I was born one and went only to Catholic schools in Philadelphia) he went so far as to check the records at our family Cemetery in Philadelphia. They showed me his letter to them! That Kennedy machine is some juggernaut!

'WASHINGTON STAR' REPORTERS FEAR FOR JOBS AFTER PUBLISHING BELOW PICTURE AND STORY

Mrs. Leonard Kater of 2733 Dumbarton avenue N.W. displays a picture which she said was of Senator Kennedy during his speech last night at the Maryland University Field House and asks: "Why are you hiding your face?" —Star Staff Photo by Randolph Routh.

Kennedy Talk Interrupted By Heckler

A woman shared the spotlight with Senator Kennedy last night at the University of Maryland campus before she was escorted away by police.

The woman, who identified herself as Mrs. Leonard Kater, of 2733 Dumbarton avenue N.W., briefly interrupted the Massachusetts Democrat when she suddenly stood up, produced a blown-up photograph and demanded:

"Why are you hiding your face?"

Senator Kennedy, who had just begun to speak, smiled and said nothing. Later Mrs. Kater told reporters the picture was a photograph of the Senator while the 3,600 persons at the Democratic rally watched. Mrs. Kater was led away by campus police.

Mrs. Kater explained that she merely wanted to know why the Senator had covered his face in the picture she displayed, which she said was taken in Georgetown. She said she is not a Kennedy supporter, but is a Democrat.

After she was escorted from the rally, Mrs. Kater got into a car waiting outside and left.

EDITOR'S NOTE:

The picture of Kennedy in the Washington Star describes him as smiling when confronted with Mrs. Kater's picture. The truth is that, Kennedy did smile, but it was several seconds in coming — actor that he is! Actually he gasped and pulled back at first with a hideously shocked look on his face, but evidently, by the time the photographers could swing into action, he had regained his composure.

'WASHINGTON STAR' SEEKS TO FOOL PEOPLE WITH FALSE INFORMATION

During the last three weeks of the presidential campaign I walked in front of the White House with my sign. Dozens of press and magazine photographers recorded the event but they all gave me the silent treatment in the press. But not the passers-by; mostly the same people every day. Many of them cursed me and dozens of them yelled for me to go back to the nuthouse. It was only after I had walked three days in front of the White House that some friends told me that The Washington Star, mostly in the person of Mr. Charles Alexander, an assistant editor, was telling those who phoned in about me that the POLICE HAD RECENTLY HAD ME COMMITTED TO ST. ELIZABETH'S a local insane asylum. I have never been within a mile of the place. After consulting my lawyer, the wonderful Myron Ehrlich, I telephoned Mr. Benjamin Mckelway, editor of The Washington Star, to put a stop to this immediately. I have a tape recording of this conversation. The Washington Post, in the person of a Mr. Parker on the city desk, told people the Post had checked out the whole story and it was a hoax and the picture a fake. I had to ask them to stop saying this since they had not checked out the story or the picture with me. From then on, but the harm done, both these papers told anyone who called about me and my sign that they had no comments to make on the matter; adding smugly, "Form your own conclusions." The Washington Daily News, purportedly strong for Nixon, told people I must have hired a college boy to pose for the picture on my placard; that Senator Kennedy would never wear those teenage white socks and mocs. When I complained about such statements to The Washington Daily News someone on the City Desk (he wouldn't give me his name) said that, ha, ha, I couldn't hold the paper responsible for these remarks because they gave them out only on their lunch hour and not on newspaper time! So I had to hurriedly tack onto my placard that I would give my $10,000 Renault to anyone who could prove the picture was not that of Senator John Kennedy; or was in any way faked or retouched. My lawyer held my lovely painting. There were no talkers. The offer is still good.

But my effort to tell the American people what they were entitled to know about Senator John Kennedy was not a complete failure. My husband says he will love and respect me for it when I'm a creaky, wrinkled and very old lady.

tossed a big cocktail party — company could mingle under chummy circumstances. Katharine Hepburn didn't show up for it.

Staff members of the Washington (D.C.) Star are still buzzing about the picture that appeared in the five-star edition the other day but more or less died there. It showed a woman named Mrs. Leonard Kater heckling Senator John Kennedy by trotting onstage with a blown-up photograph while he was making a speech at the Maryland University Field House. Her mission remains a big mystery — and nobody (certainly not the gazette that published the photo in one edition) has done anything to clarify the incident.

Allan Drake, the comedian, has fallen hard for starlet Stella Stevens, as all the romance-watchers at Hollywood's Villa Capri can testify. That's their favorite hand-holding locale . . . Connie Francis is back from Europe with two

On May 14, 1960, just before the Maryland primaries, I approached Senator John Kennedy at a political rally at the University of Maryland as he started to talk. I carried an enlarged picture of him leaving his girl friend's house at 1 o'clock in the morning; this girl friend being one of his secretaries at the time. I asked him why the picture had almost cost my husband his job; and why he was hiding his face. Several press photographers (Associated Press was one) snapped the encounter. A smiling policeman came forward and, to the tune of boos and hisses, escorted me to the rear of the gymnasium. There were many vacant seats and we were invited by the policeman to remain provided I caused no more commotion; he added pleasantly that he was sure the Senator would answer my questions after the rally. We had heard the same speech the night before in Baltimore (where I learned something about timing the hard way). I had gotten public attention for the picture; so my mission seemed over for the night. We decided to leave. A small group ran after us and chanted: "It looks like Tricky Dicky! It looks like Tricky Dicky!" Well, they had been "educated" to that sort of thing by the press. But angry as it made us, we both nearly exploded trying to keep a straight face. It was often like that.

To its chagrin The Washington Star ran a picture of my confrontation with Senator Kennedy and a small article describing me as a heckler. It was late Saturday night and the Star photographers took it upon themselves to run what seemed to them at the time just a little "human interest" story. But they soon found out that it was a deadly serious when Senator Kennedy's aides were saying after his speech that the picture had been made up by religious fanatics in Wisconsin! I have never been in Wisconsin.

At 2:30 the following morning three Washington Star photographers pounded on our door. They were GENE ABBOTT, RANDOLPH ROUTH and MR. WOOD. They said they were in serious trouble potentially because they had been personally responsible for running the picture of my confrontation with the Senator and a small article wherein I claimed the picture was taken in Georgetown (a section of Washington, D.C.). They further said they knew at a glance that the picture had been taken in Georgetown and not in Wisconsin; and also their professional eye saw that the picture was in no way faked or retouched. But, since the Senator's aides were saying the picture was a fake, the work of crackpot Wisconsin bigots, they had to know the exact spot in Georgetown where the picture had been taken — else they were likely to find themselves unemployed. My husband screamed them with a drink and told them where they would find the place. A few hours later GENE ABBOTT telephoned to say they found the exact spot and had photographed it exactly as it appeared on the end of my picket sign; with the tree, fence, lamppost and background buildings all in place; only this time it was Mr. Gene Abbott who fast-stepped across the pavement, just like Kennedy did in the picture, while his colleagues photographed the proof they needed. That must have been a wild, wild scene that Mr. ABBOTT and his friends will never forget. Mr. ABBOTT said that even with the proof safely in their pockets they were not out of trouble yet; that there might be "serious repercussions" and there'd be hell to pay for all of them. His closing remarks were, "This story is just too hot to handle" and "If it were anyone else you can be sure it would be all over the front page."

Yes, — suppose this had happened to Nixon. The press would collar him with the information that the Star's three top photographers had taken their own pictures of the spot in question and it WAS in Georgetown; and what did he have to say about that? Then the press would ask, "Why did your aides say it was taken in Wisconsin by religious fanatics?" Just that simply these few queries would uncover the truth that needed the light of day. The next question would probably be, "And, doesn't your secretary live on this same Georgetown spot?" I am sure at this point the candidate would be a shambles and there would be no more lying about who had struck the self-incriminating pose in the picture. Then would come that awful question I had asked: "WHY ARE YOU HIDING YOUR FACE IN THE PICTURE?"

But the press never asked Senator Kennedy these questions. If it had, he would not be the President of the United States.

KENNEDY THREATENS KATERS

At approximately 9:30 P.M., on Tuesday, July 15, 1958, the then Senator John F. Kennedy, accompanied by another man approached Mr. & Mrs. Leonard Kater on the street in Washington. Kennedy personally told the Katers that he had checked into Mr. Kater's job, and knew all about it and how long Mr. Kater had been with his company and what he made. Kennedy told him that if he wanted to hang onto his job he had better stop bothering him and both Mr. & Mrs. Kater had better not spread any lies about him, or Mr. Kater would find himself among the unemployed.

At that time the Katers did not know the identity of the man who was with Kennedy when he made the threats. Later it was Kennedy's Attorney, James McInerney, with offices at 1317 "F" St., N.W., Washington D.C., who revealed the man to be none other than Republican Congressman William H. Bates from Salem, Massachusetts.

Mr. James McInerney is a former head of the Criminal Division of the FBI. He was an Assistant U.S. Attorney General. For the past twelve years or so he has been more-or-less a trouble shooter for the Kennedy family. At one time Mr. McInerney worked out a settlement over a suit against Bobby Kennedy, with Mrs. Kater's Lawyer, Myron Ehrlich. Mr. Ehrlich had been representing a woman who had rented her beautiful furnished home to Bobby Kennedy. He and his children and their animals had wrecked the place. When the woman asked Robert Kennedy to pay for the damage, he (in his nut-tut manner) indicated to her that he couldn't care less. So she had to go to the trouble and expense of retaining counsel and the story hit the pages of the local newspapers back on page five or six. Then and only then did the Kennedy family send Mr. McInerney around to bring about a mutually agreeable settlement with the lady who had her home damaged by Bobby Kennedy and his very spoiled children.

Also, Mr. McInerney told Mrs. Kater that it was he who also did the job of forcing columnist Drew Pearson to retract on the air what he had said on the air -- that Senator John Kennedy had not personally written his Pulitzer Prize book, "Profiles of Courage." Lack of Proof!

Mr. McInerney visited Mrs. Kater's home six or more times for the Kennedy family. He did everything possible to get Mrs. Kater to keep the lid on the Kennedy-Turnure affair. Mr. McInerney threatened that Mr. Kater would lose his job if they expose Kennedy. Mr. & Mrs. Kater threatened to counter with an assault suit over Kennedy's threats against them on a city street with Cong. Bates present. Mr. and Mrs. Kater would go to prison for "conspiracy to commit blackmail." He stated that having two tape recordings to tape the Kennedy - Turnure affair was a "conspiracy". Later Mr. McInerney became friendly with the Katers and Bobby Kennedy accused him of "going over to the side of the enemy."

Bobby Kennedy was desperate to obtain a copy of the tape-recording of the Kennedy-Turnure affair. Mr. McInerney wanted to do anything to obtain a copy. Mrs. Kater was willing to provide him with a copy of the tape if he would sign a document (which is reproduced on this page), describing his visits with the Katers, for their protection. Mr. McInerney was most reluctant and said that if this ever became known he would lose his name would be "ruined" politically. Mr. McInerney signed the two papers Mrs. Kater prepared for him at long last. On his last visit to the Kater home, they played the tape for him of Kennedy's visit to Miss Turnure's apartment on July 1958. He acknowledged that it was valid. They gave him a "copy" of the transcript also. This tape recording is the HARD PROOF of Kennedy's sexual liaison with Pamela Turnure.

An all-important thing, from Mr. McInerney's standpoint (and he was an expert on tape evidence) was the synchronization of outside sounds on the two tapes (airplanes, buses, automobiles). He later told them that they had played off the two tapes simultaneously and jokingly told them that if they wanted to do the same thing, they should allow for a very slight lag because of an equipment differential.

Mr. Kater supplied Mr. McInerney with a complete record of all extraneous sounds as well as inside sounds -- so that they wouldn't have to guess at what they heard.

Mr. McInerney is a key figure in this story. His signed statement is proof that the Kennedy family did try to intimidate Mr. & Mrs. Kater. OBVIOUSLY, THEY DIDN'T DO THIS JUST FOR FUN. THERE HAD TO BE A REASON. The photostates of the statement signed by Mr. McInerney (reproduced on this page) show the nature of Mr. McInerney's threats and intimidation, ranging from prison sentences to arched eyebrows to unemployment. The second page that Mr. McInerney signed on his last visit to the Katers home proves that Sen. Kennedy, in the presence of Congressmen, Bates of Mass., did have "something to say" to Mr. & Mrs. Kater on the street, and obviously, what he had to say wasn't just for fun either. There had to be an urgent matter which Kennedy wanted to have silenced for all time to come.

COPY OF LAWYERS SIGNED STATEMENT SO KENNEDY COULD HAVE COPY OF TAPE RECORDING

The pictures and tape recordings we have today given Mr. James McInerney were given to him at his request. They would have been given to him as far back as September 25th if we had been certain of his identification.

Schedule of Mr. James McInerney's visits to us at 2733 Dunbarton Avenue in Washington, D.C. September 19, 1958 from 1:30 to 5:30. My husband was not present. September 25 from 2:30 to 11. My husband joined in the discussion at about 6 o'clock. Mr. McInerney told us that if we went ahead with an assault suit that my husband would indeed lose his job; that he'd be "dead."

December 4, 1958 from around 2:30 to 11. My husband joined the discussion at about 6 o'clock. Mr. McInerney told us that if we went ahead with an assault suit he guaranteed we would both go to prison for conspiracy to commit blackmail.

January 15, from 2:30 to 11. My husband joined the conversation at about 6 o'clock. Mr. McInerney told us if we went ahead with an assault suit that it would be thrown out of court for lack of grounds. To buttress this he presented us with a three page legal opinion.

January 24 from 10:30 until late in the afternoon. My husband and I present. Mr. McInerney told us that if we went ahead with an assault suit that it would be "suicide" -- that very probably my husband would lose his job; that Dayton would certainly raise arched eyebrows if we bring this suit.

January 24, 1959. Mr. James McInerney, when he came to see Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kater of 2733 Dunbarton Avenue, N.W., represented Mr. Joseph P. Kennedy.

IF IT IS ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY IN THE CONDUCT OF ANY ASSAULT CASE THAT LEONARD KATER OR HIS WIFE MAY BRING AGAINST SENATOR JOHN F. KENNEDY I will supply the name of the person who accompanied the Senator when he approached the Katers' car on the night of July 15, 1958 and who was present during the conversation between the Katers and Senator Kennedy.

'WASHINGTON STAR' SPREADS SMEAR

"WASHINGTON STAR" SPREADS VICIOUS FALSEHOOD.

On Monday, October 18, 1960, the first day of my walk on the White House pavement, M. John G. O'Reilly, of 3223 10th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C., telephoned

The Washington Star to ask them what information they had on my demonstration. He was connected with a Mr. Charles Alexander on the City Desk. Mr. Alexander's title at the Star was Assistant Editor. Mr. Alexander told Mr. O'Reilly that my demonstration was a crackpot one; that I had been recently confined to St. Elizabeth's (a local insane asylum) after giving the police a lot of trouble. The next day, October 19, 1960, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, Mr. O'Reilly again telephoned The Washington Star about my White House pavement walks. This time he had his wife, Bernice, a stenographer, on an extension telephone, pencil and notebook in hand. Again Mr. O'Reilly was connected with the City Desk and again it was Mr. Charles Alexander who said:

"WE HAVE HAD TROUBLE WITH THAT WOMAN BEFORE. LAST MAY, AFTER CAUSING A DISTURBANCE AT A POLITICAL RALLY SOMEWHERE IN MARYLAND WHERE THE SENATOR WAS APPEARING SHE WAS TAKEN AWAY BY THE POLICE AND PLACED UNDER MENTAL OBSERVATION. LATER SHE WAS PUT IN ST. ELIZABETH'S AND THAT SHE WAS OUT."

Upon the advice of my lawyer I telephoned Mr. Benjamin McKelway, editor of The Washington Star at his home when I failed to get him at his office. I have a tape recording of this conversation wherein I told him I wanted an immediate stop put to what his Assistant Editor, Charles Alexander was saying about me. From then on -- but the harm done -- The Washington Star told anyone who called about my demonstrations that they had no comment but that the caller could draw his own conclusions.

On Saturday morning, October 22, 1960, Mr. John G. O'Reilly above referred to, went down to The Washington Star's offices and personally saw Mr. Charles Alexander. Mr. O'Reilly asked him why he had said I had been confined by the police for mental observation and later sent to St. Elizabeth's. Mr. Alexander replied that he was sorry about that; that he had been "misinformed."

Mr. Charles Alexander has never expressed any regrets to me. The Washington Star has never expressed any regrets to me.

ACTUAL PICTURE OF PART OF STATEMENT SIGNED BY KENNEDY'S LAWYER

January 24, 1959

Mr. James McInerney, when he came to see Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kater of 2733 Dunbarton Avenue, N.W. represented Mr. Joseph P. Kennedy.

IF IT IS ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY IN THE CONDUCT OF ANY ASSAULT CASE THAT LEONARD KATER OR HIS WIFE MAY BRING AGAINST SENATOR JOHN F. KENNEDY I will supply the name of the person who accompanied the Senator when he approached the Katers' car on the night of July 15, 1958 and who was present during the conversation between the Katers and Senator Kennedy.

SENSATIONAL EXCLUSIVE KENNEDY-TURNURE TAPES BARED

(Editor's Note: A copy of Mrs. Kater's tape recording of the Kennedy - Miss Pamela Turnure affair is in the possession of this editor. There can be no doubt as to the voice of Kennedy. Miss Turnure's voice comes in clear, but some of the endings of their sentences are blurred by other noises both inside and outside the apartment. The most amazing part of all of this is that Mrs. Kater was able to pick up anything at all with the spur of the moment improvised recording. But, this is cold hard proof Mrs. Kater's charges).

(Following is Mrs. Kater's explanation to the first side of the recording.)

"On the one side you will hear Mr. Kennedy's voice quite clearly in the livingroom as he talks with Miss Turnure. I am attaching a transcript which will help you follow the very ordinary matter-of-fact conversation that took place. We do not have the beginning of the conversation when Mr. Kennedy first arrived, because we had not set up any microphones at that time.

"(Our only system of getting down the activity upstairs on tape was a spur-of-the-moment arrangement; the livingroom conversation was picked up from a microphone placed next to a heating duct in the basement; as soon as this was done we placed another microphone against the kitchen ceiling (their bedroom floor). We had a 10-year old recorder and a brand new one;

"You will notice in the livingroom conversation transcript that toward the very end you hear Miss Turnure call Mr. Kennedy 'Jack' in the part where she says 'Oh, will you? Jack, I'll go see it again.'"

"It is enormously difficult with our most casually arranged equipment to pick up their voices. It was summertime and the air conditioners were on. They were enough to form an almost complete blanketing of sound."

Kennedy-TURNURE TAPE:

Kennedy -- "Why didn't you just say it was impossible for you to reach me and I could have said yes"

Turnure -- "I said who do you think I am?"

Kennedy -- "Well why didn't you say well did you want to call me and I would have said yes."

Kennedy -- "Should I call you in 15 minutes and I would have said yes."

Turnure -- "It might rain. You know the way nothing I can do about it."

Kennedy -- "It sounds like a closet."

Kennedy -- "The moon is shining."

Kennedy -- "In case you were the last survivor could you say that you were"

Turnure -- "Well, oh they say that people who are working together have different"

Kennedy -- "You can go by the house and quit worrying. Do not go by that"

Turnure -- "I think that all men are cheaters"

Kennedy -- "It seems to me"

Turnure -- "Well, I know she left then and that"

Kennedy -- "Apparently she was thinking of leaving."

Turnure -- "I know that she said sometimes she was nervous and couldn't get going."

Turnure -- "This is my third time home."

Kennedy -- "That's one way of trailing you -- it's getting hotter."

Kennedy -- "I didn't realize you've got a new approach. You threw that out. I just threw it back."

Turnure -- "I'll talk with you about that later tonight."

Turnure -- "Do you like that? I like it fine. Oh, I'm really doing fine."

Kennedy -- "Do you want it?"

Turnure -- "When you're ready."

Kennedy -- "Hear the air conditioners?" (Editor's Note: Apparently asking Turnure if she could tell whether ours were on; they're great noise mufflers and I had previously told her so).

Turnure -- "No I don't."

Turnure -- "As Ginny started to tell you today, we planned on going over (to the house she was renting). She just wanted to show me everything (Editor's Note: meaning, probably, the lady of the house, Mrs. Cord Meyer -- a personal friend of Mr. Kennedy).

Kennedy -- "Oh, you went over and met them?"

Turnure -- "Yeah."

Kennedy -- "She's attractive, isn't she?"

Turnure -- "Quite attractive. She's divorced."

Kennedy -- "I knew she was divorced."

Turnure -- "I'm excited about the house."

Kennedy -- "Well, what are you going to do about it?"

Kennedy -- "It's quite a house."

Turnure -- "Yes, it's vast, with many closets and rooms. I don't care, but I thought it was hot."

Kennedy -- "Is it air conditioned? Well, what?"

Turnure -- "Mary Martin's stopping by to work." (Editor's Note: This probably refers to a cleaning girl).

Kennedy -- "Well, okay, that's Emma." (Editor's Note: Some sort of private slang).

Turnure -- "That's Emma - looking, that's another good description if you want one."

Kennedy -- "The hell with them! They all like you, don't they? I mean they don't"

Turnure -- "They can really ask 'how' at work!"

Kennedy -- "Yeah."

Kennedy -- "What ever gave you the idea she didn't?"

Turnure -- "Why should she? Why should she argue with an old guy and the whole peninsula?"

Kennedy -- "I'll be damned!"

Kennedy -- "Now, the great deal of it is that I never thought of that; that the house was too big."

Turnure -- "It's true."

Kennedy -- "No. I'd forgotten you met Miss --- where you met Mrs. Schlossberg. I'm sorry I forgot. Where did you ----"

Turnure -- "How did you think I knew her?"

MRS KATER PICKETS WHITEHOUSE

Kennedy -- "Well, I didn't know I knew it. I thought"

Turnure -- "I swear"

Kennedy -- "I thought you'd hear a discussion in the office, speaking on the phone or something."

Turnure -- "Didn't I discuss it with somebody?"

Kennedy -- "No, but then you had a chance to answer the phone. I forgot you were at the scene of the crime."

Kennedy -- "Gee!"

Turnure -- "Ever have a reunion? (Laughter) Or a re-creation of that night?"

Kennedy -- "I must confess if we should ever get together again"

Turnure -- "I'll read about it for five minutes a night every time you're there."

Kennedy -- "The stinkers up there would just as soon telephone."

Turnure -- "I'd be delighted to write; that's how I feel."

Kennedy -- "I'll get a little action from you on that one."

Kennedy -- "Well, I'll be on my way back before"

Turnure -- "Did you see 'Show Boat'?"

Kennedy -- "Yeah -- a long time ago."

Turnure -- "I'll take you to see it."

Kennedy -- "Oh, will you? JACK, I'll go see it again."

Turnure -- "Right."

Kennedy -- "Can I?"

Turnure -- "Can I?"

The following is Mrs. Kater's explanation of the tape made under Miss Turnure's bed .

"Now, when you turn over the tape you come to the bedroom scene. Quite obviously Mr. Kennedy is not a loquacious lover. It seems that when he went into the bedroom (twin beds) he must have gone to sleep at first and she must have slipped out and fooled around in the bathroom because you hear water running in their bath.

"When you first start playing the bedroom tape time it to 49 minutes and you will hear their act of love making. All the other voices you hear up to that point will be ours or our small cat's. Most of the noises you hear will be our adjusting the microphone or the stiplader; walking around a little bit, our refrigerator's kicking on and off; their air conditioners and ours, etc.

"NOW THIS IS VERY IMPORTANT --AT APPROXIMATELY 75 MINUTES FROM THE START OF THE RECORD (ABOUT 24 MINUTES FROM THE CONCLUSION OF INTERCOURSE) YOU WILL HEAR KENNEDY'S VOICE ON SEVERAL OCCASIONS. THE WORDS ARE NOT CLEAR EXCEPT FOR THE EXPRESSION 'TIME TO GO' BUT THE TIMBRE OF HIS VOICE IS UNMISTAKABLE AS MR. MCINERNEY SAID. YOU WILL HEAR HIS VOICE FOR ABOUT TWO MINUTES."

Private School For Sons Of Robert Kennedy

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Rep. Wellborn Jack, a Caddo Parish segregationist, serves as a one-man legislative watchdog on the doings of the Kennedys. They're a frequent target of his wrath.

He got up and told the Louisiana House Tuesday Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy has applied in a private, segregated school in Maryland for admission of his three eldest sons.

"I called the cook at the school to find out that there are not any Negro boys in the school," the legislator said.

Jack quoted from a news story that said Kennedy had applied for admission of his sons in the Landon School for Boys in Bethesda, Md., near Washington.

"The story says that there was no immediate information available on whether the Landon school had any Negro students," Jack explained. "I knew I couldn't get any information from the school master, so I placed a long distance call to the cook."

BIRMINGHAM RISES UP AGAINST MIXING

WHAT IS A MASS MOVEMENT?
TWO WEEKS OF GLORY

What is a true "mass movement"? Actually there are few true incidents in history which represent true "popular uprising" of the people. We here in Birmingham may be among the few living Americans who can say that we lived through a period in American history when our people united together as did our forefathers when they spontaneously stood up against the British. In almost every case, a true popular resistance movement springs automatically from the very hearts of the people. It is usually unplanned and without true discipline or full leadership.

HUNGARIAN REVOLT

The Hungarian Revolution is the best example of this. The people were sick of communism and its oppression -- they wanted to be free, and they cared not what sacrifice was necessary to throw off the shackles of slavery under the red heel. First there were strikes by factory workers, utility and transportation employees walked off the job in unison -- AGAINST COMMUNISM. The red leaders fled the people's revolt in stark terror. Individual and groups of individuals made citizen arrests of traitors and the dreaded secret police were publicly brought to justice. The people's revolt for freedom was crushed, but spirit of those GLORIOUS days will live in the hearts of free men for all time to come. MAY GOD BLESS THOSE HUNGARIAN freedom fighters who gave their all.

BIRMINGHAM UPRISING

Birmingham also witnessed a spontaneous awakening of the masses in protest against race-mixing of Birmingham's public schools. Almost the entire city opposed the "token mixing" plan to gradually integrate the public schools. During the entire summer the National States Rights Party was the only organization in Alabama to continually preach the gospel of closing all mixed schools and replace them with private all-white schools. Two weeks before the opening of the schools we circulated thousands of petitions to be signed by the people to slow mass support for closing mixed schools. The petition drive was met by enormous enthusiasm. In only 10 days petitions were signed by some 30,000 people and delivered to our headquarters. People poured through our doors turning in filled petitions and asking for more for their friends. A week before school opening the officials of National States Rights Party announced a giant motorcade to Montgomery to present the petitions to the governor, urging him to close mixed schools. Dr. Fields had asked people at a public rally to meet in front of the headquarters to motorcade to Montgomery. Several hundred people turned out, and over a hundred cars left Birmingham decorated with Confederate flags and segregation signs. The motorcade was given a police escort up to the Montgomery Capitol. On the steps of the Capitol building Dr. Fields addressed a large crowd which had gathered. He told the people that the National States Rights Party would never surrender in its fight for private all-white schools. He said it would be an unending struggle against federal intrusion into the rights of the sovereign states.

JERRY DUTTON, 6'1" IS DWARFED BY HUGE N.S.R.P. BILLBOARD GOING UP ON HIGHWAY

He condemned all who were taking away the inherent rights of the white people in the South. Dr. Fields' speech was met with loud cheers and rebel yells. THE SPIRIT OF THE WHITEMAN WAS ON THE MARCH --- AND NO POWER ON EARTH COULD STOP US.

THOUSANDS PROTEST

During the days that followed the Party Headquarters Building on Bessemer Road was a human beehive of activity. Hundreds came and went from the building. Enthusiasm and confidence prevailed upon the people. Still, no motorcade or organized picketings of mixed schools or boycott movement had been planned by any group. Then Dr. Fields called an emergency mass meeting on the eve of school mixing in Birmingham. The meeting was well advertised by radio and handbill distribution. The meeting was a huge success and at least 3,000 people attended. Dr. Fields then asked for volunteers to gather together at the Party headquarters building the next morning at 7 a.m. From there a glorious motorcade proceeded to visit mixed schools and city hall. At each point the motorcade stopped for a picketing of the schools. By the end of the day the news of the National States Rights picket line and motorcade had electrified the city. On that momentous occasion the vast masses of Birmingham people rose up and literally hundreds of motorcades were criss-crossing the city. Other groups picketed and masses of students marched into the streets. There was a total boycott of mixed classes at West End High School and almost a complete boycott at Graymont. The boycott went on for days, with thousands of students, parents and supporters motorcading and picketing all over Birmingham. Many motorcades were miles long, all flying the beautiful Confederate flag which was our symbol of resistance to the tyrannical federal dictators who are seeking to destroy our Southern way of life. The demonstrations grew day by day. It was then that the un-American Justice Department conspired with others to have NSRP leaders indicted for demonstrating against mixed schools. This was to frighten all the people into ceasing all motorcades and picketing and stop the boycott. The Federal Government decided to make an example of us so that they could crush the Whiteman's resistance movement. The morning before the grand jury met, Birmingham was rocked by the Negro church bombing in which four were killed. This gave the grand jury the necessary excuse for indicting eight patriots. Also, the fear and rioting which followed forced many to remove Confederate flags and signs from their cars to avoid being the innocent target of a Negro sniper or rock thrower.

DEMONSTRATIONS END PRIVATE WHITE SCHOOLS BEGIN

Thus ended ten glorious days of Mass White demonstrations. Newspapers were full of the story of the struggle for the very heart and soul of the people of Birmingham. We won that fight and the vast majority of the White People of this city are now openly in support of the National States Rights Party. The first stage of the battle to keep our race pure and segregated is over, and the city will never quite be the same again. The Whiteman proved that he was not willing to lie down while black hordes took over the city by storm. The Whiteman proved that he too can take to the streets and counter-demonstrate. It is true that the Negroes and communists were not indicted for demonstrating, but the White people were, and for no other reason than having guts enough to stand up for the rights of white people. We are proud of the glorious date of September 4 because that date will go down in history as the turning point in the struggle to keep the South White.

As a result of giant petition campaigns and the vast opposition to school mixing Gov. Wallace did close mixed schools as long as he could. He also used state troopers to turn back Negroes from white schools on one day and would have used the National Guardsmen to keep white schools white, if Kennedy had not taken control of the State Guard.

The final result of these "Days Of Glory" actually are just now beginning to bear fruit. Our mission was not merely the closing of mixed schools by the state, but the opening of PRIVATELY OPERATED WHITE SCHOOLS. A total victory has been won in Tuskegee, Ala. School race mixing was brought to a complete halt by a 100% boycott by ALL white parents of the mixed school there. Twelve Negroes now attend the formerly all white school by themselves. The county board of education will no doubt close the school in the near future and it will never be opened again. The white parents of Tuskegee have already opened up an ALL white private school for whites only. In Birmingham three private white school associations have been formed. The Graymont Parents For Private Schools have already started holding classes for their children. West End Parents For Private Schools have started their drive to open classes next Fall and from all signs, they are going to succeed. Gov. Wallace and McDonald Gallion are backing the moves to private education in Alabama. President Kennedy will meet his Waterloo here in Alabama. We intend to do away with public education if necessary to preserve our children from race mixing and its eventual result -- mongrelization, or death of our race as a pure people.

No, Alabama will never be the same again -- nor will the nation. The Whiteman is on the march to take back his country, and junk the Kennedy plot to race-mix our Alabama people.

Keep Bars Up, Alabama Racists Ask

MONTGOMERY, Ala., (UPI)—A 100-car caravan headed by uniformed members of the militant National States Rights Party rolled up to the governor's office Saturday with a 30,000-name petition demanding the immediate closure of any Birmingham area school that is integrated.

Two of the Steel City's high schools and one elementary school are scheduled to lower color barriers next Wednesday under federal court order.

Edward R. Fields, information director for the National States Rights Party, a white supremacist group, said the 30,000 names on the petitions were obtained during the last 10 days.

A crowd of about 300 persons gathered for the ceremony while the petitions were carried to the marble steps of the State Capitol —where Jefferson Davis took the oath of office as the first president of the Confederacy.

Sam Browne Belts

Earl Morgan, the governor's executive secretary, accepted the petitions—carried by three sweating party members dressed in black boots, tight black pants, white shirts with wine-colored velvet patches and black Sam Browne belts. The mercury stood at 98 degrees.

The delegation was flanked on either side by two huge Confederate flags. Every car in the motorcade, ushered to the Capitol by local police, fluttered at least four Confederate flags.

The affair, however, attracted more newsmen than residents of Montgomery.

Gov. George Wallace, who has promised to "re-segregate every integrated school," was in Randolph County participating in the dedication of a U. S. flag at Southern Union College. The flag once once flew over the nation's Capitol.

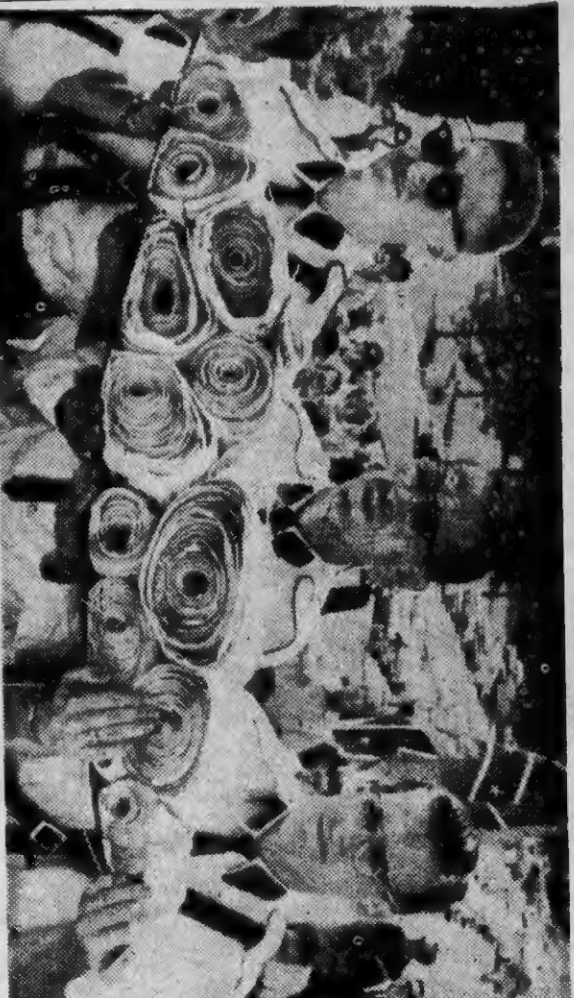

'The Trials'

Fields, dressed in a light blue suit with a red tie, made a short speech to the casual crowd before Morgan walked out to accept the petitions.

"We will not surrender our rights to the New York Communists," Fields said. "The traitors Bobby Kennedy and John Kennedy have written off the South. We will write them off."

Fields said the party would call for a "complete and total boycott" of all schools integrated in Birmingham. "And come Wednesday, our banner will fly in front of each school."

Fields announced there would be a mass rally—"largest white meeting in the South"—Tuesday night on the outskirts of Birmingham to draw up emergency party plans.

NATIONAL STATES RIGHTS PARTY members from Birmingham, Ala., wearing black trousers and Sam Browne belts, present giant petitions to state officials at Montgomery urging that schools scheduled for desegregation next week be closed.

Morgan told the group Wallace "in his inaugural address said he would stand up for Alabama. He is standing up for Alabama and for America. Like the state motto here in this hallowed hall, 'We dare defend our rights.'"

Petitions

The petitions said: "Whereas, Negroes will try to force their way into white schools this September:

"Whereas, Professor W. C. George, a distinguished anthropologist was hired by the State of Alabama to study the Negro race and found said Negro race to be a lower form of un-civilized creature, not equal to the white race and that mixing of the races would be a grave danger to our great white race and civilization itself:

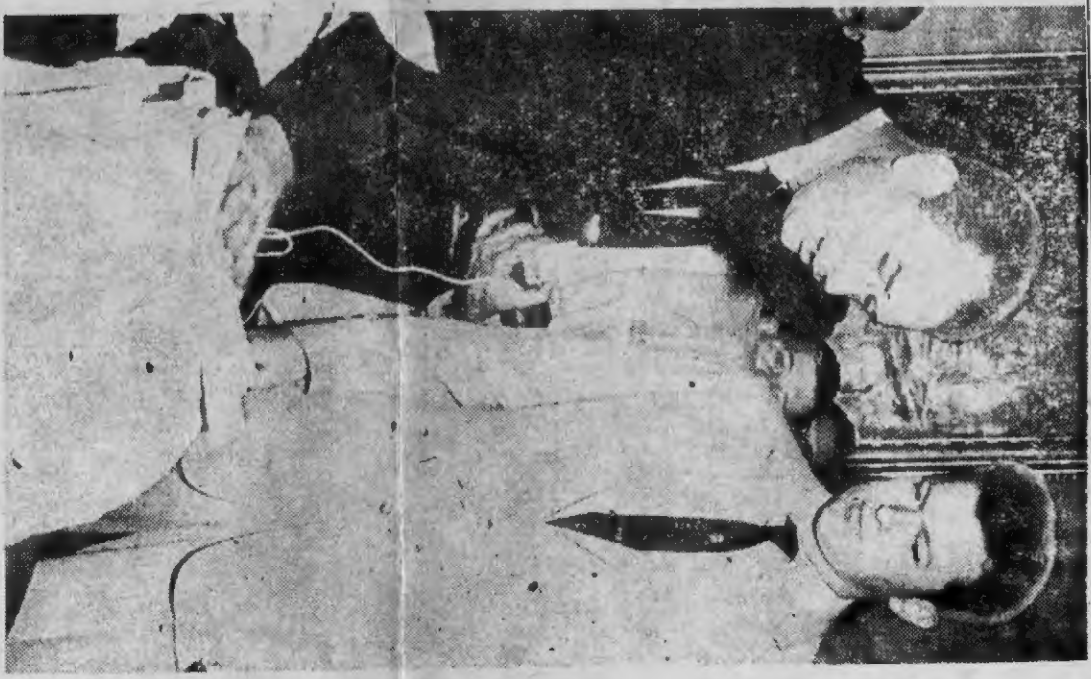

"Whereas, race-mixing is a major part of the Communist conspiracy against us white Christians:

"Whereas, Negroes are in open revolt against our white society:

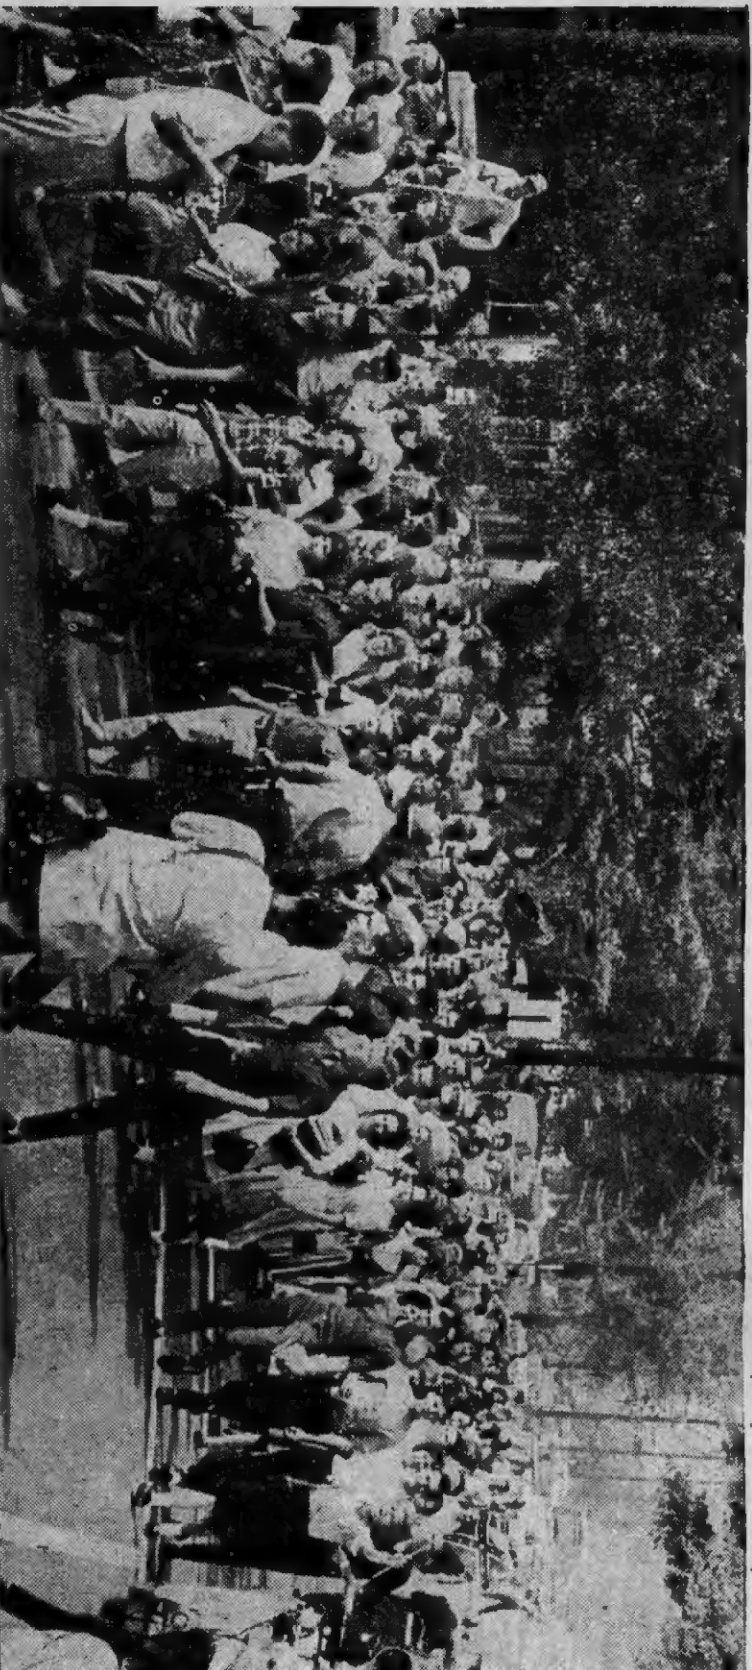

Several other state officials accompanied Morgan. Included were Finance Director Seymour Trammell, the governor's legal adviser, Cecil Jackson, Industrial Relations Director Jack Giles, and Public Safety Director Al Lingo.

When introduced, Lingo received loud applause. The director has headed police action in several racial trouble spots in the state.

MRS. KATER REVEALS INTIMATE DETAILS

On February 26, 1958, Miss Pamela H. Turnure rented an upstairs apartment from Mrs. Leonard Kater in the Georgetown district of Washington, D. C. Miss Turnure was a secretary to Sen. John Kennedy, who was at that time being boomed for the Democratic presidential nomination.

A few days later Miss Turnure moved into the apartment. (Photo-stat of the lease signed by both Mrs. Kater and Miss Turnure is reproduced for the first time in this issue). Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kater lived at this time in the apartment below - on the ground floor.

The following are the details of the intimacies reported by Mrs. Kater between John F. Kennedy and Miss Pamela Turnure.

We quote below from Mrs. Kater's signed statement:

"The proof and personal knowledge I have that John F. Kennedy, now the President of the United States, has an illicit relationship with Pamela Turnure, now press secretary in the White House to Mrs. John F. Kennedy, is listed below. It satisfied my lawyer, Myron Ehrlich, and obviously it is enough to keep the Kennedys and their lawyers biting their fingernails but powerless to do anything about it whenever I choose to tell the truth about John F. Kennedy's lecherousness -- which is often and which is very public indeed. I worked as a secretary for years in various law offices and knew that knowing something is not proving it. I knew the need for proof if I ever hoped to keep John F. Kennedy from becoming the President of the United States.

"At 1:15 A.M., Friday, June 27, 1958 Senator John F. Kennedy arrived at 2731 Dumbarton Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C. This address designates the overhead apartment we rented at that time to Miss Pamela Turnure.

"I did not see Senator Kennedy arrive but wondered who it could possibly be who was so important because even as her visitor was ringing the bell she turned on her noisy vacuum cleaner and delayed answering her doorbell. This prompted her visitor to call out that he was down below and wanted to be let in right away.

"At about 1:17 A.M., Friday, June 27, 1958 Miss Turnure admitted her visitor to the apartment described above. At 1:45 A.M., the unmistakable sounds of love making could be heard in the kitchen below at 2731 Dumbarton Avenue coming from the bedroom above. As I heard the visitor leaving I went over to my kitchen window to see who it was. I saw Senator John F. Kennedy leave the apartment steps, go to his car, fumble for a few seconds for his keys, and drive off at 2:30 A.M.

"Several nights later at 12:20 A.M., Tuesday, July 1, 1958 the apartment doorbell was rung repeatedly. Evidently no one was at home because the caller stopped holding his finger on the buzzer and went off. Again I looked out my kitchen window and again saw Senator John F. Kennedy get into his car and drive off. At the conclusion of the Tonight Show, a bit after 1 o'clock A.M., since it was a hot night, my husband and I decided to go for a walk. We had no sooner crossed Dumbarton Avenue than Senator Kennedy's car came by. As was his custom he parked in front of a private driveway thus avoiding the usual parking problems of the rest of us. He hopped out of his car, ran across the street, and rang the bell at 2731 Dumbarton Avenue. It was then around 1:15 A.M., Tuesday, July 1, 1958. This time he was admitted. I was angry that such a man was being praised in the press at that very moment as being worthy to be the President of the United States. We decided to try to do something about it; whereupon we returned to the house and hooked up two tape recorders -- one directed toward the livingroom above and the other toward the bedroom. It was a hurried and amateurish job and the results were not spectacularly good but they are comprehensible. We "got" considerable conversation between Senator Kennedy and Miss Turnure -- largely composed of what she thought of the house she was taking over for the summer from some friends of his; the voices are easily identifiable. The act of love making is clearly audible as is Senator Kennedy's voice and Miss Turnure's voice in the bedroom at that time. Senator Kennedy left again at 2:30 A.M., July 1, 1958."

White Girl Slain After Cancelling Interracial Marriage

CAROL MALGREN

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12. (AP)—Police said 14-year-old Carol Ann Malgren was stabbed to death today after she had cancelled her proposed interracial marriage to Negro Connie Roy Eames, 21, of nearby Daly City, Calif.

Eames told police, "all of a sudden I went berserk," after Miss Malgren, who was white, told him she didn't want to see him any more.

POLICE reported that Eames cut the girl's throat with a jack-knife. She died minutes after arriving at San Francisco General Hospital. Police Lt. Hugh Conroy said his men found Eames still at the home where Miss Malgren had been baby sitting. "I had my satisfaction," Conroy said Eames told him.

Soviet Jews denounce 'defenders in West urge fight on 'real foes'—fascism and war

By ESTHER SHIELDS

MOSCOW — Three-starred Lieutenant General Grigory D. Plaskov angrily cried out: "Why don't those people who shout about 'Soviet anti-Semitism' protest against the new growth of fascism?"

General Plaskov rose from his seat in front of me at a conference of prominent Soviet Jews. It was called by the Jewish magazine, "Soviet Homeland," to protest the anti-Soviet propaganda carried on in the U. S. and elsewhere.

The general was an impressive figure. His khaki uniform was resplendent with rows of brilliant ribbons, testifying to his extraordinary heroism in many battles against the Nazis.

"I know the crimes of the fascists in destroying six million Jews," he said. "While I was helping to liberate the Soviet land I saw the orders of Hitler and General Heusinger to kill all Jewish prisoners of war."

Heusinger is now NATO strategy planner, with offices in the Pentagon.)

REAL MENACE

General Plaskov then discussed the rewards that the Nazi butchers were getting in West Germany.

"I know many names of Nazi officers who killed Soviet Jews and other Soviet citizens who were given estates and servants in West Germany. Nazi organizations have become legal with the connivance of the Bonn government. These revenge seekers are a menace to the whole world. Mothers cannot sleep while they are plotting more crimes."

The General then discussed the rightwing Jewish editors and leaders in foreign lands who are spreading propaganda

GEN. ADOLF HEUSINGER... ordered slaughter of Jews about alleged anti-Semitism in the USSR.

"I am indignant at these uninvited defenders of Soviet Jews," he continued. "It is very dangerous when an enemy pretends to defend you: you can be stabbed in the back!"

"I urge all Jewish people to work for peace—for peace all over the world," he said.

Poet Aaron Vergelis, chief editor of "Soviet Homeland," was chairman of the conference. Vergelis pointed out that the present campaign alleging "anti-Semitism" in the Soviet Union occurs just when the United States has a "fiat clash between racists" and Negroes struggling for their rights. He particularly denounced the slanders of the "Jewish Morning Journal," and "The Forward."

"Anti-Semitism has increased ed alarmingly in the U. S., Western Germany and the Argentine," Vergelis declared. "People who slander the position of Jews in the Soviet Union want to push us back into ghettos, back to the restrictions of the Tsarist days," the editor sharply warned.

AMERICAN RABBI

Vergelis told of an incident in the editorial office which illustrated the character of some "protesters." An American rabbi came to Vergelis and claimed he heard that the Moscow synagogue would be closed. Vergelis assured the rabbi this would not happen so long as any congregation attended the synagogue.

Then glancing through American newspapers just delivered to his desk, Vergelis asked the rabbi about a report of the closing of a Chicago synagogue. But the rabbi replied:

"I don't care anything about that. With us Americans, it is a free way of life... If you like to throw stones, go ahead... But I am interested in what might happen in a case of discrimination we would be willing to help by our protests."

One participant in the conference, Professor Ilya D. Strashun, was particularly incensed by a foreign publication signed by "Leon Goor." Dr. Strashun, a white-haired member of the USSR Academy of Medical Science, declared:

"Goor pretended to be sympathetic about Lemnigraders who died in the terrible siege. But Goor is only trying to defend the fascists. He claims the Nazi gunners made 'mistakes' when they bombed children gathered for evacuation! My wife and I were there and saw what happened."

Other speakers accused their self-styled "defenders" of trying to obscure the real achievements of Soviet Jews. Honored construction engineer Mayer P. Podolny declared: "If there had been no revolution, I would have been just an artisan in a small shop. Now I am a builder, a civil engineer. I get great satisfaction out of building new apartments, schools, nurseries and other projects for our people."

Podolny also described how he headed a partisan detachment fighting fascist invaders in Byelorussia.

"Partisans of many nationalities helped rescue Jews who fled from the Nazis into the forests," he stated.

NO DISCRIMINATION

An automobile worker said he came from a very poor family and could not get an education before the Revolution. "But my children are all getting a good education now," he said. "In my 33 years at the Likhachov automobile factory, I have never experienced any discrimination."

Other veterans of struggles against the Nazis participated in the conference. They included Prof. Josef S. Braginsky, now editor of the magazine "Asia and Africa" and an authority on Jewish and old Hebrew culture; Boris S. Shapiro, head of a big shop in Moscow's Second Watch Factory; Leonid A. Vinocur of Moscow's Economic Council; Roman D. Rakhunov, Doctor of Laws and now chief scientific worker in the Institute of Crime Prevention. Editor Vergelis promised that conference proceedings would be published in a future issue of "Soviet Homeland."

Yiddish Theatre

In Rumania

LONDON (JTA)—Rumanian Yiddish State Theatre, in the capital city of Bucharest, celebrated this weekend its 15th anniversary, according to reports received here today.

The company boasts a repertoire of works by contemporary Jewish playwrights in Rumania, Israel and other countries as well as Jewish classics and plays from the Rumanian, Russian, American and British stage, performed in Yiddish translation.

Rabbis abroad ask release of Sobell

NEW YORK — A plea is from abroad, including one from Rabbi Israel Brodie, Chief Rabbi in London, have been submitted to President Kennedy urging release of Morton Sobell, in his 14th year of imprisonment on a conspiracy to commit espionage charge of which he asserts he is innocent. Others urging his release are Chief Rabbi of Israel Yis'hak Nissim, Chief Rabbi of Amsterdam E. Berlinger, Chief Rabbi of Rotterdam L. Vort, and Dr. Martin Buber of Israel. Many leading rabbis in the U.S. have previously pleaded for Sobell's release.

The executive secretary of Workers' Circle, Benjamin A. Gehner, called Thursday for passage of President Kennedy's civil rights program.

Gehner, here from New York for a regional conference of leaders of the Jewish labor organization, said his group is actively supporting the legislation.

Also, he called for passage of a comprehensive medicare program and revision of existing immigration laws as proposed by the Kennedy administration.

Jew In High Council Of Communist Poland

LONDON (JCNs). — Dr. Adam Schaff has been elected a member of the Ideological Committee of the Polish Communist Party and given the task of improving the morals and ideals of the "new man in the Communist society."

After spending the war years in Russia, Dr. Schaff, the son of an Orthodox Polish Jew, returned to Poland in 1945. In 1959 he was appointed head of the Polish Institute of Social Sciences and gained the reputation of being one of the foremost Marxist theoreticians in the Communist world.

The real estate speculations of the Jews are familiar to all, but unfortunately do not constitute their entire land program. Many American cities have changed their characters entirely during the past 15 years by reason of Jewish speculation in residence property, and it is a fact established in the larger eastern cities that the recent exorbitant and extortionate rise in rents was largely a matter of the Jewish landlord. The governor of one of the most important of our commonwealths was loath to sign a bill regulating rents. His hesitancy was encouraged by very heavy pressure brought to bear upon him by the weightiest Jewish financial interests in his own and neighboring states. He finally decided that he would sign the bill and give the law effect, and the fact that decided him was his personal investigation and the investigation of his personal agents into hundreds of cases of abuse where he discovered that it was a common practice among Jewish landlords to transfer the same piece of property round and round to every member of the family in turn, each "transfer" being the excuse for a new increase in the rent. Men have their eyes opened to the Jewish Question in various ways: this was the way a governor had his eyes opened.

That, however, is not the peculiarity of Jewish landlords alone; Gentile landlords have played the same trick. But landlordism is peculiarly a Jewish ambition and distinction; the Jew is the Landlord of America. Any group of tenants almost anywhere in America, except the West, could testify to this.

Nor is landlordism itself reprehensible, things being what they are, unless it is anti-social and anti-American. And just here is where it gets point. Some of the oldest and most sacred shrines of Americanism in the East have entirely lost their character as such by the invasion--not of "foreigners"--but of JEWS.

The more one sees of this invasion, the more one distrusts the statistics given out by the Jews as to the Jewish population of the United States.

Do you know that the one nationality on which the Government of the United States is estopped from asking questions, either for immigration or census statistics, is the Jewish?

Do you know that when the Government of the United States wants to know anything about the Jews, it must go to the statisticians which the Jews themselves support?

If a nation claims that it is no nation with respect to the United States Government, as the Jews claim, and has no national statistics which it will permit the government to collect in the official way, why should it treat itself as a nation and keep its own records?

The Jews of the United States, like the Jews of every European country, are a nation among themselves, with their own government, their own policy, their own records; and the United States Government does business with the Jewish Government in America through chosen Jews--no doubt of that.

It is, however, a digression. The manner of Jewish statistics will come up again. In the meantime a glance at the rapid changing of so many American cities in all parts of the land leads to the belief that the Jewish statistics furnished by the Jews for Gentile consumption entirely misstate the facts, and this belief is strengthened by the knowledge that the statistics given by the Jews for Jewish consumption are very different from those supplied for the outside world.

Landlordism may be explained by the inclination of the Jew toward speculation, and we know that real estate has been made one of the most speculative of occupations, disgracefully, almost disastrously so. The Jew cannot be condemned for becoming a landlord, for becoming the most conspicuous landlord in America; he cannot be condemned apart from his Gentile co-offenders for the abuse he has made of his advantage as landlord. But it is a matter for American concern that the cities to which, in the school-books, our children are taught to look as the birth-places of liberty and as still the spokesmen of Americanism, should become Semite cities, financially and politically, and the recruiting ground of the world's Bolshevism.

Until recently, however, the Jew in America has not cared for the land. It is a characteristic. The Jew is not an agriculturist. Lavish fortunes have been expended to make him so, but the productive work of farming has not had, and does not now have, any appeal to him. His choice in land is this: land that produces gold from the mine, and land that produces rents. Land that produces more potatoes and wheat has not directly interested him.

It is true, of course, that the land question has been distinctly Jewish in countries like Poland and Rumania. No law against Jews owning land in those countries has ever been effective in preventing their

We will leave it to the farmers of the United States to say whether this is working out or not.

And in the future reference to this subject we will show that whenever an attempt is made to enable farmers to borrow money at decent rates, whenever it is proposed to lighten the burden of "mortgage indebtedness" on the farm, Jewish financial influence in the United States steps in to prevent it, or failing to prevent it, mess it all up in the operation.

By increasing the farmer's financial disability on the one hand, and by increasing industrial allurement on the other, a very great deal is accomplished. The Protocol says: "It is necessary for industry to deplete the Land both of laborers and capital."

Has that been done? Have the farms of the United States been depleted both of laborers and capital? Certainly. Money is harder for the farmer to get than it is for any other man; and as for labor, he cannot get it on any terms.

What is the result of these two influences, the one working on the farm, and the other in the cities? It is precisely what the Protocol says it will be: Increased wages that buy less of the materials of life--"we will at the same time cause a rise in the prices of prime necessities, pretending that this is due to the decline of agriculture and cattle raising."

The Jew who set these Protocols in order was a financier, economist and philosopher of the first order. He knew what he was talking about. His operations in the ordinary world of business always indicated that he knew exactly what he was doing. How well this Sixth Protocol has worked and is still working out in the human affairs is before the eyes of everyone to see.

Here in the United States one of the most important movements toward the real independence of the financial powers has been begun by the farmers. The farmers' strong advantage is that, owning the land, he is independent in his sources of livelihood. The land will feed him whether he pleases international Jewish financiers or not. His position is impregnable as long as the sun shines and the seasons roll. It was therefore necessary to do something to hinder this independence. He was placed under a greater disadvantage than any other business man in borrowing capital. He was placed under as they read their newspapers. And, of course, while the American newspaper will gladly inform you that the man is an Italian and that man a Pole and the other man a Briton, it will never tell you that the fourth man is a Jew. There is a Jewish organization in every city, large and small, to prevent it--and they prevent it by methods that are violent and wholly subversive of the American ideal of liberty.

So, until recently, the plan in the United States has been to seize the commodity at just that point in its passage from producer to consumer where the heaviest weight of profit can be extracted from it--at the neck of the bottle, so to speak--and control it there. It is not service that the people pay for; they pay for seizure.

But a new movement has begun in the United States. Jewish millions are now being used to secure immense tracts of American lands. Formerly it was enough to control the cotton, as the bread was controlled, but now the movement is toward controlling the cotton lands. The operations are carefully guarded; "Gentile fronts" are used almost exclusively; but follow the trail through all the "blinds" and "false scents" and you come at last to the International Jew, whose throne is set up in London.

Many Jews have written THE DEARBORN INDEPENDENT saying that they do not know about these racial plans for world control. It may well be that they do not. One purpose of these articles is to tell them about it. But this every Jew rejoices in--the movement of his people toward power. And it is this sentiment that the International Jew implicitly trusts, and because this sentiment exists The International Program secures a maximum of success at a minimum risk of exposure. Jewry is not a democracy but an autocracy. Of course, the ordinary Jew does not know! The question is, Why should he revile the Jew who tries to tell him? If a Jew will not seal his mind against the statements made in these articles, he will find in his own knowledge sufficient corroboration of their principal features, and he will be in a better position to assist in the solution of the Jewish Question.

It is with amazement at certain men's conception of editorial honesty that THE DEARBORN INDEPENDENT has read some of the reports made of these articles. Under cover, principally of the Yiddish, alleged translations of these articles have been being broadcast among non-English speaking Jews, translations which not only bear no resemblance to the original, but actually insert whole paragraphs of matter which never appeared in the original at all. Is there a fear of permitting the average Jew to read this series? Nothing is more desired by those whose purpose is to lay foundations for the solution of the Jewish Question in America than that every Jew in the United States should know exactly what is being printed here week by week. The Jew has been deceived by his leaders long enough.

The fact is then, that there is a definite and already well forwarded movement toward the control of the cotton lands of the United States. The first step was to depreciate the market value of these lands as much as possible. Pressure was brought through certain banks to limit the cotton farmers' efforts. They were told that if they planned more acreage to cotton than they were told to, they would not be financed. Cotton production was to go down while cotton prices were to go up, and the profits were not the farmers' but those who controlled the course of cotton from the first market to the wearer. Cotton farming was to be made less profitable, while cotton speculation was to become more profitable. The public was being compelled to supply the money by which the Jewish controllers were to buy the land! In brief, it was to be made more profitable to sell cotton lands than to sell cotton.

These statements are being deliberately restricted to the traffic in cotton lands. Jewish financiers in New York and London know these things, even if Jewish editors and rabbis do not.

This movement has been within the knowledge of certain classes of business men for a long time, indeed some have been forced by what used to be called "the pressure of circumstances" to serve the movement. But they were not able to interpret its meaning. It is only recently that the more important Gentile business men of the United States have been able to interpret certain things. The war was a potent eye-opener.

Those wonderful documents known as the "Protocols," with their strong grasp of every element of life, have not overlooked LAND. The Land Program is found in the Sixth Protocol, which is one of the briefest of these documents and may be quoted in full to show now the relation it bears to certain excerpts made in previous articles.

PROTOCOL VI

"We shall soon begin to establish huge monopolies, colossal reservoirs of wealth, upon which even the big Gentile properties will be dependent to such an extent that they will all fall together with the government credit on the day following, the political catastrophe. The economists here present must carefully weigh the significance of this combination. We must develop by every means the importance of our super-government, representing it as the protector and benefactor of all who voluntarily submit to us.

"The aristocracy of the Gentiles as a political force has passed away. We need not take them into consideration. But, as owners of the land, they are harmful to us in that they are independent in their sources of livelihood. Therefore, at all costs, we must deprive them of their land.

"The best means to attain this is to increase the taxes and mortgage indebtedness. These measures will keep land ownership in a state of unconditional subordination. Unable to satisfy their needs by small inheritances, the aristocrats among the Gentiles will burn themselves out rapidly.

"At the same time it is necessary to encourage trade and industry vigorously and especially speculation, the function of which is to act as a counterpoise to industry. Without speculation, industry will cause private capital to increase and tend to improve the condition of Agriculture BY FREEING THE LAND FROM INDEBTEDNESS FOR LOANS by the land banks. It is necessary for industry to deplete the land both of laborers and capital, and, through speculations, transfer all the money of the world into our hands, thereby throwing the Gentiles into the ranks of the proletariat. The Gentiles will then bow before us to obtain the right to existence.

"To destroy Gentile industry, we shall, as an incentive to this speculation, encourage among the Gentiles a strong demand for luxuries, all-enticing luxuries.

"We shall force up wages, which however will be of no benefit to workers, for we will at the same time cause a rise in the prices of prime necessities, pretending that this is due to the decline of agriculture and of cattle raising. We will also artfully and deeply undermine the sources of production by instilling in the workmen ideas of anarchy, and encourage them in the use of alcohol, at the same time taking measures to drive all the intellectual forces of the Gentiles from the land.

"That the true situation shall not be noticed by the Gentiles prematurely, we will mask it by a pretended effort to serve the working classes and promote great economic principles for which an active propaganda will be carried on through our economic theories."

The local and passign element in this is "the aristocracy of the Gentiles". That is to say, the program is not entirely fulfilled by the passing of the aristocrats. Jewry goes on just the same. Its program stretches far. Jewry will retain such things as it desires as long as it desires them. Probably the last throne to be vacated will be the British throne because what to the British mind is the honor of being Jewry's protector and therefore the inheritor of the blessing which that attitude brings, is to the Jewish mind the good fortune of being able to use a world-wide empire for the furtherance of Jewry's purposes. Each has served the other and the partnership will probably last until Jewry gets ready to throw Britain over, which Jewry can do at almost any time. There are indications that it has already started on this last task.

But the permanent elements in this Protocol are the Land, the Jews, and the Gentiles. A word of explanation may be necessary on this inclusion of the Gentiles as permanent; the Protocols do not contemplate the extermination of the Gentiles, nor the making of this world a completely Jewish populated world. The Protocols contemplate a Gentile world ruled by the Jews--the Jews as masters, the Gentiles as hewers of wood and drawers of water, a policy which every Old Testament reader knows to be typically Jewish and the source of divine judgment upon Israel time and again.

Now look at this whole Program as it concerns the Land.

"Owners of the land  are harmful to us in that they are independent in their sources of livelihood."

That is a foundation principle of the Protocols. It matters not whether the owners are "Gentile aristocracy," the peasants of Poland, or the farmers of the United States--land ownership makes the owners "independent in their sources of livelihood." And any form of independence is fatal to the success of the World Program which is written so comprehensively in the Protocols and which is advancing so comprehensively under Jewish guidance in the world of actual affairs today.

Not "tillers" of the land, not "dwellers" on the land, not "tenants," not an agricultural peasantry," but "owners of the land"--this is the class singled out for attention in this Sixth Protocol, BECAUSE they are "independent in their sources of livelihood."

Now, there has been no time in the history of the United States when apparently it was more easy for the farmer to own his land than now. Mortgages should be a thing of the past. Everywhere the propaganda of the question tells us that the farmers are growing "rich." And yet there never were so many abandoned farms.

"Therefore, at all costs we must deprive them of their land."

How? "The best means to attain this is to increase land taxes and mortgage indebtedness." High taxes to keep the land at all, borrowed money to finance the tilling of it.

"These measures will keep the land ownership in a state of unconditional subordination."

control of whole provinces. Not that the Jews demanded the right to farm the land, their choice was to farm the farmers. By devious methods and the use of "Gentile fronts" they could always secure control of the land, and thus dominating the peasants, they could create almost any condition they wished. That is what they actually did. That is the Jewish Question in those parts of the world. Not for farming purposes, it must be understood, but for the purpose of controlling the main source of wealth in agricultural countries and for taking the control of the people away from their natural Gentile leaders.

These two things always go together in countries where there is intellectual or landed aristocracy to which the people look for leadership; the Jewish program is to destroy that leadership by gaining control of the land. It is profitable, of course, but when you survey the outworking of the plan you always see something other than profits involved. The consummate perfection of the Jewish plan for World Control is that it does not involve sacrifice as have other plans, it is immensely profitable at every stage, and the greater the profitability the more surely the purpose is being achieved. In America there was no aristocracy to be cut under by the gaining of land control. Jewish activity in the United States until recently has confined itself to the control of land products after they have been produced; that is, so to say, Jewish interests do not engage in trapping, but they control the fur trade.

Speaking of furs, it is very funny to see how some affairs turn out. During the war (World War I) there was a great to-do made about the German control of the American fur trade. It was true that the fur trade was controlled from Germany, but not by Germans--by Jews! And then a great to-do was made about seizing, confiscating and absolutely selling out that "German" fur business to Americans, and the "Americans" who bought it were -- Jews! The actual control has never changed; the profits still find their way to the "international" purse.

But furs is just an example. Jewish interests do no engage in raising grain, but control the grain that others produce. The need of the United States is a "Who's Who of Jewish Financiers" that the people may identify the men about whom they read as having made this "corner" or sprung that "coup." These interests, which have simply grabbed American-produced wealth and made American consumers pay and pay and pay, have been able to operate almost openly because of the sheer blindness of the American people business man in borrowing capital. He was placed more ruthlessly than any other producer between the upper and nether stones of a thievish distribution system. Labor was drawn away from the farm. The Jew-controlled melodramas made the farmer a "rube," and Jew-made fiction presented him as a "chick," causing his sons to be ashamed of farm life. The grain syndicates which operate against the farmer are Jew-controlled. There is no longer any possibility of doubting, when the facts of actual affairs are put alongside the written Program, that the farmer of the United States has an interest in this Question.

What would this World Program gain if the wage-workers were enslaved and the farmers were allowed to go scot-free? Therefore the program of agricultural interference which has been only partially outlined here. But this is not all.

Any writer who attempts fully to inform the Gentile mind on the Jewish Question must often feel that the extent of the Protocols' Conspiracy is so great as to stagger the Gentile mind. Gentiles are not conspirators. They cannot follow a clue through long and devious and darkened channels. The elaborate completeness of the Jewish Program, the perfect co-ordination of its mass of details wearies the Gentile mind. This, really more than the daring of the Program itself, constitutes the principal danger of Program being fulfilled. Gentile mental laziness is the most powerful ally the World Program has.

For example: after citing the perfectly obvious coincidence and most probable connection between the Protocols and the observable facts with reference to the farm situation, the writer is compelled to say, as above, "But this is not all." And it is a peculiarity of Gentile psychology that the Gentile reader will feel that it ought to be all because it is so complete. This is where the Jewish mind out-manuevers the Gentile often does the same thing for three or four reasons. The Gentile can understand thus far why Jewish financiers should seek control of the land in order to prevent widespread Agricultural Independence which, as Protocols Six says, would be "harmful to us." That reason is perfectly clear.

But there is another. It is found in the Twelfth Protocol. It contemplates nothing less than the playing of City against Country in the great game now being exposed. Complete control over the City by the industrial leverage, and over the Country by the debt leverage, will enable the Hidden Players to move first the Country by saying that the City demands certain things, and then move the City by saying that the Country demands certain things, thus splitting Citizens and Farmers apart, by using them against one another.

Look at the plainness and the boldness, yet the calm assurance, with which this plan is broached: "Our calculations reach out, especially into the country districts. There we must necessarily arouse those interests and ambitions which we can always turn against the city, representing them to the cities as dreams and ambitions for independence on the part of the provinces. It is clear that the source of this will be precisely the same, and that it will come from us. It will be necessary for us before we have attained full power to arrange matters that, from time to time, the cities shall come under the influence of opinion in the country districts, that is, of the majority pre-arranged by our agents ***"

The preliminaries of the game are here set forth---to jockey City and Farm against each other, that in the end the Conspirators may use whichever proves the stronger in putting the Plan over. In Russia, both schemes have been worked. The old regime, established in the Cities, was persuaded to lay down power because it was made to believe that the peasants of Russia requested it. Then, when the Bolsheviks seized power, they ruled the peasantry on the ground that the Cities wanted it. The Cities listened to the Country, now the Country is listening to the Cities.

If you see any attempt made to divide City and Farm into antagonistic camps, remember this paragraph from the Twelfth Protocol. Already the poison is working. Have you never heard that Prohibition was something which the backwoods districts forced upon the Cities? Have you never heard that the High Cost of Living was due to extravagant profits of the farmer? -- profits which he doesn't get.

One big dent in this Program of World Control could be made if the Citizen and the Farmer could learn each other's mind, not through self-appointed spokesmen, but directly from each other. City and Farm are drifting apart because of misrepresentation of outsiders, and in the widening rift the sinister shadow of the World Program appears.

Let the Farmers look past the "Gentile fronts" in their villages or principal trading points, past them to the real controllers who are hidden.

At student rally above called to protest race--mixing, NSRP presented a check to the student movement to help finance the student motorcades and back the boycott of racially mixed schools in Birmingham.

ANNOUNCING THE PUBLICATION OF . . .

THE INTERNATIONAL JEW

The Book They Tried to Kill

Students of American history and current events will be interested to know that the famous book, The International Jew, originally published by the great American industrialist, Henry Ford, has been reissued by the Christian Nationalist Crusade.

The Crusade Director, Gerald L. K. Smith, who was intimately associated with Henry Ford during the latter's lifetime, personally prepared the latest edition of The International Jew, and wrote the introduction to it. Excerpts from this introduction are as follows:

GERALD SMITH
"At the apex of his business career Henry Ford, the industrial genius, sensed that a terrific effort was being made to take his business from him and manipulate it into the hands of the moneychangers. Mr. Ford had the impression that these manipulators were being engineered by powerful Jewish financiers.

"He called to his office the most intelligent research men within his acquaintance. He commissioned them to make a thorough study of the international Jew and publish their findings in 'The Dearborn Independent,' which at that time was the official organ of the Ford Motor Company. No expense was spared, and it is estimated that literally millions of dollars were spent by Mr. Ford on this project. The original articles were carried first in 'The Dearborn Independent,' and then published in book form.

"The moment the manuscripts dealing with the Jewish problem reached the public, a terrific howl went up from official Jewry. Every instrument of torture and abuse which could be imagined was carried on against Mr. Ford—smear, character assassination, ridicule, physical threat, boycott. The pressure was constant, consistent and endless. The most powerful and enigmatic pressures imaginable were brought to bear on Mr. Ford to stop the publication of The International Jew.

Finally the order came through to cease publication and to destroy the copies which were available. Jews and others went into the bookstores and bought and destroyed all copies which could be found. Sneak thieves were commissioned to visit libraries and steal the report out of the libraries. This made the book so rare and unfindable that it became a collector's item."

Long absent from bookstores and libraries because of the "book-burning" activities of a host of Jewish organizations and individuals, The International Jew is a must for all mature students of Americana.

What Henry Ford Said About THE INTERNATIONAL JEW

In his book entitled "My Life and Work," which was published in 1922, Mr. Ford comments on his "International Jew" series with the following words:

"Readers of our articles will see at once that we are not actuated by any kind of prejudice, except it may be a prejudice in favor of the principles which have made our civilization.

"There had been observed in this country certain streams of influence which were causing a marked deterioration in our literature, amusements, and social conduct; business was departing from its old-time substantial soundness; a general letting-down of standards were felt everywhere. It was not the robust coarseness of the white man, the rude indelicacy, say, of Shakespeare's characters, but a nasty Orientalism which has insidiously affected every channel of expression—and to such an extent that it was time to challenge it. The fact that these influences are all traceable to one racial source is a fact to be reckoned with . . . Our work does not pretend to say the last word on the Jew in America. It says only the word which describes his present impression on this country. When that impression is changed, the report can be changed . . . Our opposition is only to ideas, false ideas, which are sapping the moral stamina of the people. These ideas proceed from easily identified sources, they are promulgated by easily discoverable methods and they are controlled by mere exposure.

"When people learn to identify the source and nature of the influence swirling around them, it is sufficient.

Let the American people once understand that it is not natural degeneracy but calculated subversion that afflicts us, and they are safe.
"The explanation is the cure. This work was taken up without personal motives. When it reached a stage where we believed the American people could grasp the key, we let it rest for the time. Our enemies say that we began it for revenge and that we laid it down in fear. Time will show that our critics (the Jews) are merely dealing in evasion because they dare not tackle the main question."
